STEP 3: REVIEW PROCESS

I have a limited number of nominations available each academic year. To assist me in determining the most qualified candidates, I use a Service Academy Review Board. The Board meets interviews each candidate individually and makes recommendations to me based on interviews and the academic materials noted above.

Only candidates with a completed file as of November 10, 2001 will be considered by the Academy Review Board. Applicants will be notified in late December, 2001 as to the time and place for their interview.

ADDITIONAL NOMINATIONS

Most students seek nominations from several sources. Aside from Congressmen, nominations are also available from U.S. Senators, the Vice-President, and the President. I encourage you to contact Senator Paul Sarbanes (410.962.4436) and Senator Barbara Mikulski (410.962.4510) to find out more about their nomination processes.

FINAL PREPARATIONS

Please be aware that a nomination from me does not necessarily mean that a candidate will be appointed to an Academy. Final acceptance into one of the U.S. Service Academies is made by the individual Academy. Because of the extremely competitive admissions environment at the Academies, I encourage you to also apply to other colleges and universities.
